THE FOOD TECH TIMES

Your weekly update of cooking and baking by Honiton Community College students and staff

HCC IS A COLLEGE OF FABULOUS BAKERS AND CHEFS!

The Food Tech Times began at the start of lockdown as a way to keep students and staff at HCC in touch with each other via a common love of food. We shared our baking triumphs and our cooking successes with each other, (as well as a few disasters), and delighted in the food we were growing in our gardens. Thankyou to everyone who contributed to this weekly newsletter, it's been a pleasure receiving your pictures every week and seeing the pride and delight you all had in your creations. I think it's fair to say that HCC has many talented bakers and chefs. In this, the last issue of the Food Tech Times, I have compiled pictures I have received over the past few months. I apologise now for anyone's pictures I may have left out, but as you can see I have received so many it's hard to keep track!

Although this is the last issue of the Food Tech Times, I would still love to see what you cook and bake over the summer! So please send me any pictures you take of your cooking to emilford@honitoncollege.devon.sch.uk

Have the most wonderful summer and keep cooking!
